Council Begins Drive For Sports

EDITORIAL

Get On The Ball!

• A CHALLENGE has been offered to each student. Do you want sports? The Administration feels that it is only a "vociferous minority" who are sports' enthusiasts. The coming three days will prove or disprove this point.

As in all controversies there are arguments pro and con. The entire reliability of the Student Referendum will be doubtful unless a great majority of the student body studies each point and then marks his ballot either "yes" or "no".

In order to understand fully the attitude of both sides in this discussion, the background of the sports situation at the University must be known. For almost 20 years, we have had outstanding football and basketball teams—outstanding because the football team was one of the few in the nation that was consistently bad and because the basketball team blew hot and cold—in the cellar one year and champs the next.

Basketball reached its pinnacle here during the 1942-43 season when the Colonials beat a favored Duke team and won the Southern Conference Championship. That was our last competitive appearance and we quit while we were ahead which was in accord with the practice of all successful gamblers. The question is, "Are we gamblers, or are we in sports for the love of sports?" The Student Council and the Sports Committee believe that the latter is the case and that although a winning team gains more support, the students will back any team that the University floors just because it represents the University.

Although stating that he himself is in favor of the return of sports, and always has been, President Marvin presented the Administration's arguments against their return this year: (1) sports should not be entered into hastily, either because of a plank in the election platform of a successful political party or because of "emotionalism," but should be carefully considered from all angles; (2) in order to put successful, not mediocre teams on the field the University wants to wait until the coaches now on war leave return rather than bringing in new men unfamiliar with University problems and background; (3) there are not sufficient players at the University at the present time and even if a team could be produced there is no assurance that the material would be available in future years; (4) there is no desire among the majority of students, in the faculty, or among the alumni for sports—on the other hand there is a direct opposition; (5) Washington will not support any fourth rate team nor any team that "should have won but didn't" as evidenced by the experiences of the professional teams and the other collegiate teams in the city; (6) financially the University can not embark upon a full sports program at this time.

On the other hand the Student Council and the Committee believe that they have the answers to every one of these objections. In partial reply to Dr. Marvin's first point, a member of the losing political party stated at Friday's meeting that the plank for the return of sports had also been in his party's platform. The Committee also believes that its actions in taking a referendum on student opinion and in submitting a definite plan defeat the point that the fuss is based on emotionalism. Rather, they believe it is based on cold fact and logic. As to the Administration's second and third points—the coach who led the Colonials to victory in the Southern Conference in his first attempt at coaching did so when he was only a part-time member of the faculty and

Conference With Administration Ends in Deadlock; SC Committee Holds Student Referendum, Rally

Dr. Marvin Asks For Formulation Of Definite Plans

• IN A REPEAT of last year's conference with President Cloyd H. Marvin on the issue of bringing intercollegiate sports back to the University, the Student Council Sports Committee received no commitment from the administration in last Friday's discussion.

Stating that he had no authority to give a definite answer, President Marvin suggested the Committee formulate more specific plans as to the sports desired, the means of financing such a program, and the student and coach material available. He said that he, then, would be willing to discuss further the possibility of a return this year and to present the plans to the Board of Trustees.

At the request of the Council, President Marvin and William Myers, director of physical education, met with representatives from The Hatchet, the Student Council, and the Sports Committee to clarify the University's position on the sports question.

Members of the Committee were Anne Peterson and Joe Holtzman, from the Student Council; Janet Evans, Polly Peterson, Herbie Halberstadt, Jean Jones, and Jim Simpson, Hatchet; and Jim Bacon and Barry Kreisberg, Sports Committee.

With hopes of putting a basketball team into competition this year, student representatives were unsuccessful in the attempt to get a green light at the present time.

It's Up To You!

• "IF YOU WANT Sports on campus, it's entirely up to you." So says the Student Council Committee. Let them know how YOU feel by—

1. Balloting today, tomorrow, or Monday in the Student Referendum on the Return of Sports.
2. Attending the Sports Rally Monday night in back of Government.

Voting will be from 12:00 to 2:00 p.m. and 5:30 to 7:00 p.m. in the Student Club, Hall of Government, Medical School, and Law School.

Council Plans Shot-in-Arm For Activities

• "THE ACTIVITIES COUNCIL Presents" has been suggested as a title for the monthly assemblies being organized by the newly-revived Activities Council which met last Friday in the library at Strong Hall.

Suggested by President Cloyd Heck Marvin, the assemblies will be designed to acquaint students with available campus activities.

Need for careful planning of the programs was stressed by Floyd Sparks, director of Cue 'n' Curtain and faculty adviser to the Council. He announced that Cue 'n' Curtain, along with two other organizations still to be determined, will take the first assembly which has tentatively been scheduled for November 14.

Schedule for participation in these programs by other campus organizations will be determined at the Council meeting which will be held in the library at Strong Hall, Saturday, October 27, at 3 p.m.

All interested organizations are asked by Activities Director Polly Peterson, to send a representative to this meeting, preferably an officer or a senior member. Each group should have its program ready to submit to the Council one month before the date it is to perform.

Each of the three groups taking an assembly program will sponsor, as the highlight, some "big name" of their particular field in an effort to make the programs varied and interesting. A sample of (See COUNCIL, Page 3)

Committee Outlines Program, Orders Vote On Sports

• SHALL THE UNIVERSITY return to an intercollegiate sports program? is the key issue of the Sports Committee campaign which starts today.

To disprove statements made at last Friday's conference, a referendum will be conducted by the Student Council to determine whether the student body favors a return to sports this year.

Polls will open today at noon in the Student Club. Students may cast their ballots today, Friday, or Monday in the Student Club or Hall of Government, 12-2 p.m. and 5:30-7 p.m. Voting booths will also be arranged for the Medical and Law Schools.

Each student having a registration card will be eligible to voice his opinion. All ballots must be signed and cards will be punched as a precaution against over-zealous sports fans, Laddie Reichwein, chairman, declared.

The three-day referendum will officially close at an all-student rally behind the Hall of Government Monday at 7:30 p.m. Pep talks will be given by special outside speakers and by members of the Committee. Potential material for a basketball team will be presented. The rally will be conducted by cheerleaders, and a band will lead the singing.

"We are expecting more than a majority of the students to vote and to attend the rally," Chairman Reichwein stated.

Following the conference Friday and acting at the request of President Marvin, the Committee drew up the program outlined below to be considered by the administration.

Deadline Trips Prospective Class Officers

• STUDENT ADVOCATE, Jim Bacon, announced this week the receipt as of last Monday of only five more petitions over the seven already submitted by students seeking permission to run for class offices.

Petitions will be received today for eligibility and approved candidates are to be presented at the Masque Ball tomorrow night.

The petitions received this week include those of Louise Bender, running for secretary-treasurer of the Senior Class; Polly Peterson, for vice-president of the Junior Class; and Lois Lord, for secretary-treasurer of the Junior Class.

Jean Ferguson is candidate for president of the Sophomore Class, and Dorothy Baines is running for vice-president of the same Class.

Other Sophomore petitions received include Dick Generelly's petition for president, Nancy Hanck's, vice-president; and Barbara Hanby, secretary-treasurer.

Howard Tichbin and Diana Roosevelt are seeking election to the presidency of the Freshman Class.

Candidates are reminded that they may run ads in the November 8 issue of The Hatchet. Campaign expenses have been limited to $5.00 per candidate.

Veterans' Group Elects Bill Long As Head; Price, Dooley, Harris Also Get Posts in Club

• COMING THROUGH, last week, with a close two-vote majority to win, Bill Long was elected president of the Student Veterans' Club for the fall semester. In a run-off ballot he defeated Jim Fitzsimmons, retiring president seeking re-election.

Complete new slate of Vet officers includes, in addition to Long, Lloyd Price, vice-president; Joyce Dooley, secretary, and Zeb Harris, treasurer.

The election meeting, attended by approximately one hundred members, was marked by a great deal of heated discussion and tight races for most of the offices. Norman Cohen, retiring vice-president, presided over the balloting.

Long's victory came only on the second ballot by a two-vote majority. On the first vote Fitzsimmons had a plurality over the other candidates but no majority which necessitated the second ballot. Joe Beyda and Bill Streiter, candidates on the first vote, were dropped, and the race narrowed to Fitzsimmons and Long, with Long winning by a last deciding vote.

Lloyd Price rode to an easy win over Tom Hurt, for the vice-presidency on a second ballot which was run off simultaneously with the presidential voting.

Only reelection of a retiring officer came with the return of Joyce Dooley to the position of secretary. Zeb Harris took office as treasurer only after a second ballot.

Though devoted almost entirely to the election of new officers, some regular business was handled at the meeting. Retiring President Fitzsimmons read to the club two letters he had sent to Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt and General Omar Bradley. He also told of his trip to Hyde Park recently to lay a wreath on the grave of the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Plans were also made for periodic dinner meetings of the Veterans' Club to be held at the YMCA.

November 10 Last Day To Register For Photographers

• IN ORDER TO have full representation in this year's Cherry Tree, Felicia Miller, editor, urges all freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors to make their appointments for yearbook pictures before the November 10 deadline. "Make all appointments at the booth in the Student Club from 12 p.m. to 2 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Friday," she said.

Pictures will be taken in the photographic studio, basement of Kann's, 7th and D Sts., N. W. About 150 pictures will be taken each week. The cost will be $1.00 and is payable at the store. Girls are reminded to wear white tailored blouses and no jewelry.

he is now available under the same situation.

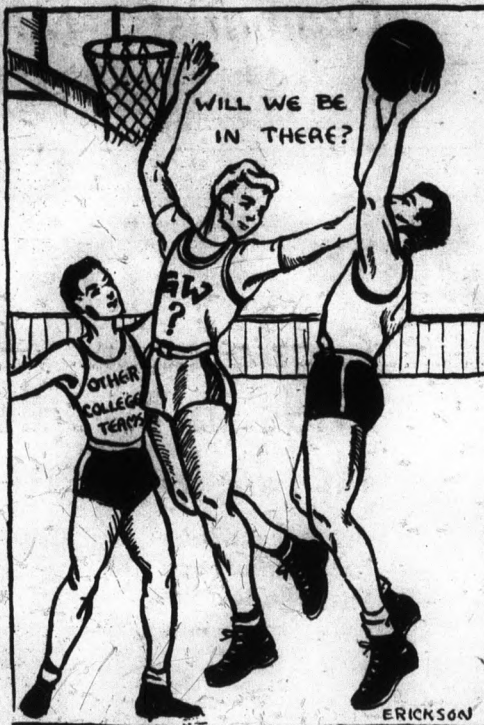

In addition, the Conference rules now permit the use of freshmen players and the Committee has drawn up a list of enough eligible upperclassmen and freshmen to make up the roster of a complete basketball squad, and, as was brought out at the meeting, many of the city's top-notch high school players normally come to the University.

Skipping the argument regarding the attitude of the faculty, students, and alumni for the moment let us consider the question of whether Washington will support the team. That any poor team will not be supported by outsiders is a known and proven fact. However, we do not believe that our teams have ever been supported by the city, but by the students and alumni. On the financial side we must admit that Dr. Marvin knows how much money is available for use in athletics, although he has not offered to discuss that aspect with the Committee. There are, however, several witnesses to the fact that Mr. Myers stated he could put out a basketball team for only a few thousand dollars. Much of this money would be offset by the admissions charged to the games.

Other points brought out by the Sports Committee are that school spirit is higher this year than it has been in years; the existence of a tangible group behind which the students could put their support would unify the University; intercollegiate sports would provide extra-curricular activity for returning veterans and a greatly increased mass of war-weary students. In the long run the initial outlay can be considered as a worthwhile long-term investment in that the University will benefit from the additional students who will be attracted by concrete evidence of our efforts to expand and improve the University.

And now let us consider point number four. Dr. Marvin's statement is due to be put to the test as it regards the opinion of the student body. The innovation of referring such a question to the students themselves for an answer should prove to the President that we are determined to be fair in our discussion of the subject. Whatever the outcome of the referendum, we think that such a poll should also be made of the faculty and alumni in spite of a statement at the meeting that a majority of the faculty would write "yes" when they really meant "no."

Friday's conference accomplished little—it was, in fact, nothing more than a repeat performance of last year's ill-fated fiasco. President Marvin kept the floor for the majority of the meeting and gave a background history of sports during the period of his administration. Again a decision was postponed. Again Dr.

Marvin disclaimed ability to answer the questions put to him. Again Mr. Myers said nothing but an occasional laconic "yes" to "Isn't that correct, Myers?" Again the President failed to convince his hearers.

Dissent among the representatives regarding the place of football in the program was the rope with which the President tripped them up. He then offered to allow the students to formulate plans which he would be glad to discuss at any time and then present to the Board of Trustees which does not meet until late November, but which he can call into special session at any time.

The conference accomplished nothing except to afford Dr. Marvin an excellent opportunity to toss the ball back to the Student Council and Sports' Committee. The Committee in its referendum is asking YOU what you want done. Are you going to ignore it or are you going to get out and vote and toss the ball right back to the Administration?

Pollitis

• FROM ALL INDICATIONS, the Student Council has developed a mania for ballot boxes—today the opening of the sports referendum, tomorrow choosing of the Ideal Coed, and November 11 and 12 voting for class officers. In the wake of rushing, students are being kept busy making their choices.

Though voting may seem trite, misused and futile, there could be no better training for the future national voters. Here is a reproduction of political life of America—the same ideals, ambitions, hopes, and dreams; the same log-rolling, campaigning, jealousies, and criticisms; the same indifference to voting!

Every vote has its importance as shown in the recent Veterans' Club election. It is each student's duty as a member of the University to be actively interested in its polls, to know the candidates and their qualifications, and to study the issue involved.

If history repeats itself, apathy will be more marked when balloting for class officers comes along. This need not be the case.

Class officers serve a definite purpose, that of uniting an unwieldy student body. The Student Council cannot do it alone.

Powerful officers could do much for campus life with freshmen mixers, sophomore hops, junior proms, senior banquets. Classes of other universities keep their names alive by presentations of books, murals, and building funds to their alma mater.

A class office is a responsibility, because successful candidates will lay a good or bad foundation for a good or bad future. Their success or failure will be reflected in the classes to come.

Solid support of classmates will be an added incentive to create work by the new officers.

On each student rests the responsibility for his class history through his selection at the polls. Wars have been fought so there could be this very privilege. Use it now!

THE VICTORS ...

Congratulations to the new officers! The Veterans can now forget their differences and get behind their leaders.

The voting session will not soon be forgotten. Politics and speech-making had a field day. Predictions of a close battle were not far wrong in the race for the presidency.

The Fitzsimmons-Phillips-Johnson plan to keep fraternities out was unique. The punch of President Jim Fitzsimmons' review of the club's accomplishments was lost in the free-for-all which followed an accusation from the floor that this was merely a clever campaign.

Presiding Officer Norman Cohen turned the discussion to the nominations, and that could hardly bring any calm. Fitzsimmons pointed out Bill Long's inactivity and definitely put his veto on him. That was a cue for Wayne Johnson to nominate Fitzsimmons. By the time Long got the floor, Fitzsimmons, Phillips, and Johnson were lined up for officers. The Long-Streiter-Beta team defended the fraternities. More speeches and then voting. After two ballots Long finally nosed ahead by a two-vote majority to win.

The Veterans should be proud they have such a sought-after organization. It has done much for the campus in the past and should continue this year in such capable hands.

BEEN FOOLED LATELY ...

There's a new pamphlet on the market to protect the vet from the "legion of swindlers" who look upon the returning serviceman as the gullible type after so many years from the states. The 32-page "Gyps and Swindlers" warns the veteran to read before he signs and to investigate before investing. In addition there is a list of 14 "don'ts" and 26 "beware's."

The booklet can be obtained by mailing 10 cents to the Public Affairs Committee, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, New York.

NEW RULING ON REHABILITATION ...

Any veteran now under Public Law 346 who wishes to change to Public Law 16, may do so within the next thirty days without having any of his time on Public Law 346 deducted.

OFFICERS ON TERMINAL LEAVE ...

Officers on terminal leave who registered as civilians may bring in their Bill of Entitlement to Dr. Dreese's Office and receive a pro rata refund from the date of their Bill on any tuition or fees previously paid. This Bill of Entitlement can be obtained by taking Certificate of Service to the Veteran's Administration, 300 Indiana Avenue.

IF YOU WANT A JOB ...

With numerous calls each day from firms desiring to employ Veterans, Dr. Mitchell Dreese has referred all offers to Miss Virginia Kirkbride, director of personnel guidance. Her office is on the second floor of Columbian House. There are all types of positions open, full or part-time, and she will be pleasantly helpful in finding the right one for you.

Under Public Law 346 a serviceman may work without a permit up to and including 35 hours a week. If he is carrying part-time college program, he may also obtain a percentage of his subsistence allotment. The University rulings will allow the veteran to carry a full schedule of 12 hours with 24 hours of work and full subsistence allowance. There are any number of combinations which Dr. Dreese can explain more fully.

Inside Track On ...

Laddie Reichwein

• IF YOU WALK into the Student Club just about noon and see a tall, lanky, good-looking fellow with light-brown hair and blue eyes, you should have no trouble in recognizing Laddie Reichwein, chairman of the Student Council's newly appointed Sports' Committee.

"The purpose of this Committee is to investigate problems and possibilities of the return of sports to the University," says Laddie.

Born in Centralia, Pennsylvania, twenty-three years ago, Laddie played on the University basketball and baseball teams in '41, '42 and '43.

He left the University in '43 to join the Marine Corps, and since his discharge from the service, has been an active member of the Veterans' Club.

As you might have guessed by this time, sports are Laddie's prime interest in life. He also likes "to have a good time."

Majoring in Physical Education here at the University, Laddie will graduate in June. After this he hopes to coach sports and teach.

Student Body Favors Resumption of Sports

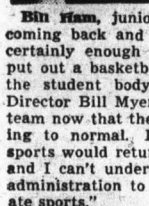

By ADRIENNE BARRY

• WHILE RESUMPTION or complete discontinuance of the University's participation in inter-collegiate sports is still hanging in the balance, The Hatchet has tried to ascertain the feeling of the student body on the present sports situation. The cross section of opinion obtained shows a whole-hearted desire on the part of the students for the immediate return of basketball and the formulation of plans for the return of football. Some of the statements made during the survey show the high pitch of student feeling on the subject.

Mervin Lewis, student on war leave: "Knowing that the students have fought bitterly for the resumption of sports for the last two years, I am honestly dismayed to learn at the present time that the administration is again letting them down. In newspaper statements made last year, following the failure of the students to bring back athletics, it was disclosed that the only reason that sports were not brought back then was lack of players, scheduling difficulties, and travel restrictions. Those are things of the past. The University owes it to the students of the past, present, and future to bring back inter-collegiate sports now."

Bin Ham, junior: "With the number of veterans coming back and with those already here there are certainly enough men in the University to at least put out a basketball team. I think that a petition of the student body and the cooperation of Athletic Director Bill Myers should guarantee us a basketball team now that the war is over and things are returning to normal. I, for one, had just assumed that sports would return as soon after the war as possible and I can't understand the present opposition of the administration to our getting back into inter-collegiate sports."

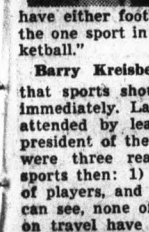

Margaret Hodges, sophomore: "Only with the return of sports can we ever expect to have a normal amount of school spirit at the University. It seems to me only natural that a school of this size should have teams of various sorts to play against other colleges. Take away sports and you have taken away half of college life. In my opinion, the only thing that keeps the University from being a top rate school is the lack of sports."

Bob Phillips, returning veteran: "I think that sports should definitely return, now that there are so many veterans and plenty of material for good teams. We shouldn't stop with just basketball, but should even plan for baseball next spring. I think that if the administration refuses to bring back sports, it will be a crime against the students. So much has been said about student life and student activities around school—the return of sports would be the best way possible to work up enthusiasm over the University and bring back school spirit."

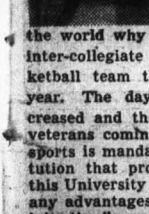

Bonnie Nelson, freshman: "I think we ought to have a basketball and a football team. Every one looks forward so much to the games each year and it just seems a definite part of college life. After all every other college has sports and inter-collegiate teams. Why shouldn't we? It just doesn't seem right to deny sports to college students."

John P. McClure, freshman: "Regarding the good of the school as a whole, participation in varsity athletics is perhaps the largest single drawing card, particularly should the school have a team of good calibre. There are many persons who claim that we still have insufficient material for a good football team. With this I disagree. Many returning veterans who have played before are still eligible for one or two years of competition. However, even conceding this point, there is no denying that we have more than adequate resources for an excellent basketball team, one which would stand a fair chance of rating high in the Southern Conference. If we are not to have either football or baseball, let us at least have the one sport in which we have always excelled, basketball."

Barry Kreisberg, engineer: "I definitely believe that sports should be brought back to the campus immediately. Last year at a Student Council meeting attended by leaders on campus and called by the president of the University, it was stated that there were three reasons why we couldn't bring back sports then: 1) restrictions on travel, 2) ineligibility of players, and 3) war time conditions. As far as I can see, none of them hold water now. Restrictions on travel have been lifted, the war has ended, and there are enough eligible students to play ball. This last has been found to be true by the Sports Committee, of which I am a member. Last, but not least, is the fact that this university, a so-called "Grade A" institution, is about the only one left in the country that has not returned to varsity sports. It was bad enough that we didn't have sports during the war, and now it seems absolutely negligent on the part of the administration not to bring back sports at this time."

Ben Noble, law student: "There is no reason in the world why a school of this size should not have inter-collegiate sports. We should start with a basketball team this year and plan for football next year. The day school enrollment has greatly increased and then, there is an increasing number of veterans coming back each semester. The return of sports is mandatory, as far as I can see. For an institution that professes to be liberal and progressive, this University seems uncannily adept at sidetracking any advantages that might be secured by taking the initiative."

Gloria Wooten, freshman: "I don't see how a university can have any school spirit without a team. College just isn't college without football heroes for the girls to idolize, pep rallies before games, school letters and such. Every other college and even the high schools have teams. Why can't we? If we are ever going to start, there is no reason why we can't start this year with a basketball team, at least. In my opinion, inter-collegiate sports should be a definite part of college life."

Dramatists Select Cast For "RUR"

Cue 'n' Curtain To Present Initial Production Nov. 9

• OUT OF AN original record breaking group of 160 persons, sixteen were selected for the cast of "RUR", Cue 'n' Curtain's first 1945-46 production, Director Floyd Sparks disclosed this week.

John McClure will play the leading role of Harry Domin with Jane Drew as Helena, Glory, Bert Awalt as Dr. Gall, and Tom Lodge, Jr., as Mr. Fabry.

Others in the cast include: Nelson Wurz as Dr. Hallemeier, Larry Strickland as Mr. Rusman, and Ruth Corder, as Nana. Sheila and Helena, both robotesses, are played by Carolee Arnold and Kittigene Rohman, respectively.

Joe Beyda as Marius, Rob McBride as Radium, and Paul Sades as Primus also are robots. Three unnamed robots will be John Mitchell, Dave Bates, and Clarence Shephard.

Karel Kopeck's "RUR", a futurist story of mechanical men who develop souls and conquer their human creators after the Frankenstein manner, will be presented Nov. 9 and Nov 10 in Lisner Auditorium at 8:40 p.m.

Season tickets are on sale for $3.60 in the Student Club from 12 to 1:30 p.m. and 5 to 6:30 p.m. through Nov. 3. From Oct. 29 to Nov. 3 tickets may be purchased in the Box Office of Lisner Auditorium from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The season price of $3.60 (including tax) offers the four Cue 'n' Curtain productions to be given this year, "RUR", "The Silver Cord", the annual musical, and annual-classical drama, for the price of three. Lloyd Price, business manager, warned that though the season ticket holders are assured of a reserved seat for every production, in order to get the best seats, tickets should be obtained early.

Dr. Ragatz Cites Colonialism's End In Memphis Talk

• LOWELL RAGATZ, Professor of European History, addressed a group of district teachers meeting in Memphis, Tennessee, last Saturday.

His subject "The Future of Empire" emphasized the fact that "the age in which white Westerners have expanded over outlying lands and peoples has come to an end." "For," he said, "in the last 25 years subject peoples have made such great advances in education and economics that they have now become restless and anxious to achieve their independence."

Dr. Ragatz cited Java as a nation whose populace expresses the belligerent attitude which subject peoples have developed against their exploiting masters.

He concluded his lecture by stating that the growth of strong nationalist movements in all parts of the world make it advisable for the imperialistic powers "to abandon colonialism, which regards subject peoples as inferiors fit only for exploitation, and to adopt in its place a liberal attitude toward these peoples." The latter was illustrated by referring to the manner in which Americans have regarded the Filipinos.

Professor Ragatz believes that the Dutch will soon lose their dominant position in the East Indies, the British in India, Nigeria, and South Africa, and the French in Indo-China and West Africa.

Editor Miller announced a meeting for editors tomorrow at 12:30 p.m. in Building K. The next staff meeting will be November 2.

Eighty new members have been added to the various staffs. There are still places, however, on the advertising and circulating staffs for interested students, they reported.

Cherry Tree subscription drive will begin November 5. Prizes will be awarded to the individual and to the group which gets the most subscriptions.

Masque Ball Queen Mounts Throne Friday

• QUEEN OF THE MASQUE BALL will be "unveiled" during intermission at the dance in the Colonial Ballroom of the Shoreham Hotel tomorrow night. She will be chosen from among eleven candidates who represent all campus sororities.

Personality, beauty, on-campus popularity, extra-curricular activities and scholastic standing are the qualifications by which competitors for the crown have been chosen.

Dean Gets Air To Broadcast New Program

• "TODAY IN HISTORY", heard daily last winter over WOL and every Sunday since August, 1944 over WTOP will go off the air November 1, Elmer Louis Kayser, Dean of University Students and narrator of the program announced last week.

Arranged as a wartime service by its sponsors, the time will now be used for some form of radio advertising. Dean Kayser is working on a format for a new radio show expected to start January 1.

"As to the future of radio, it is quite a job even to attempt to predict," Dean Kayser stated. "Radio is so new that there has been little opportunity to regularize channels of entering the field. For example, most present radio men are former newspaper correspondents. In the early days, the men who went in as announcers and producers had had dramatic or musical training. In the non-technical fields, of course, the requirements are self-evident."

"The future character of radio is as yet undetermined. Undoubtedly it will be knocked into new form by the advent of television. As is the case now, the talent roles will be drawn from their original fields: singers will continue to come from the concert stage, comedians, etc."

Great announcers are becoming a thing of the past, Dean Kayser thinks. Nowadays radio stations tend to have large staffs of announcers. Post-war radio will probably continue to be staffed by men who have worked into the field as youths. The main requirements are a sound education and a pleasing radio voice.

Department Adds Four Professors In Spanish, French

• FOUR NEW PROFESSORS have been added to the Department of Romance Languages, Henry G. Doyle, Dean of Columbian College, has announced. Two of the appointments, Dr. Eugene J. Jollat and Dr. Edward B. COGS To Open Registration For Point Work on Projects

• COGS REGISTRATION open to all students interested in joining will be held on October 31 and November 1, at a booth in the Student Club. COGS Co-directors Dorothy Eggling and Marcia Bartlett have decided to work through the Council of Social Agencies and for that reason all students must register.

Projects including hospital and community work undertaken by individuals will receive COGS credit, however. But to receive credit you must be a registered member.

Three main projects will be undertaken this year by the organization as a whole. They are: hostessing at U.S.O. dances, camp shows, and the Industrial Home School. Talent for camp shows is being chosen from Cue and Curtain, Glee Club, and Orchestras. The shows are to be given at hospitals, rehabilitation centers and nearby camps.

Evening programs and recreation are being planned for the teen-age girls at the Industrial Home School.

COGS regular meetings are held on Mondays at 4 p.m. in D-103. Anyone who wishes to supply additional information or ask any questions is invited to attend, the directors announced.

Staughton Elects

• STAUGHTON RESIDENCE HALL for women began its student government with election of officers Friday, October 12. Anne Sabo assumed the responsibilities of president; Mary E. Davis, secretary-treasurer; Jacqueline Weber, social chairman; Jean Tyson, assistant social chairman; Mary Dickey and Barbara Borror, house chairman.

November 5 at 10:30 p.m. the initial house meeting will be held for the discussion of activities for the winter.

ISS Opening Year With Gala Party On Hallowe'en Eve

• UNDER THE direction of Professor Alan Thomas Delbert, the International Students Society is planning a full season of social activities, the first meeting of which was held last Thursday evening.

Among the more prominent activities discussed at the meeting were a Hallowe'en party on October 30, to which all are invited, and a series of teas to be given by Dr. Delbert beginning early in November. The Hallowe'en party is to be in the form of an informal reception in honor of new foreign students. All affairs and meetings are held at the International House, 2121 G St. N. W.

Professor Delbert said that he was very proud of the fact that the club managed to stay "out of the red" and also managed to retain quite a bit of money from last semester.

•HELLO THERE! To all you girls that are wide awake enough after Rush Week to read The Hatchet, we would like to dedicate this column. Since sorority rushing has been the center of attention this week, we thought that you might like to hear about some of the new styles seen on both rushees and sorority girls during Open House on Saturday and Sunday.

One dress we particularly liked was that worn by Jean Davis, rushee. Jean's dress was black crepe with a low-cut, square neckline. The top had buttons down the front to the waist, and embroidered flowers on either side. Very attractive indeed!

Well, that's all for now; we'll let you go back to sleep again. See you next week.

'Cop on Corner' Gives Life To Care of Young America

By BETTY WEETHEE

• I'LL LAY YOU ODDS that ninety-nine out of a hundred of "Washington's finest," otherwise known as the Metropolitan Police Force, are Irishmen. This holds true for the blue-coated individual with the cheery smile and helping hand at 21st and G Sts., Pvt. Arthur S. Miskell.

For 23 of his young years, Pvt. Miskell's police work has been concerned with thwarting school students' attempts to be massacred by passing autos. This has been done not only because of his love for the out-of-doors, but because of his interest in the welfare and longevity of the countless "seekers of knowledge."

After a hard day's work at the corner, Pvt. Miskell's diversions include baseball, reading detective stories and participating in summer camp programs for potential school patrols. He also speaks at various schools on safety regulations and the importance of their being observed at all times.

Bids will be signed in D-3 from 11-2 p. m. and 5-7 p. m. Friday.

Over 300 rushees attended the second Pan-Hel assembly October 18 for final instructions on rush events. Agnes Smith, president, presided. Girls were briefed on the rules and regulations governing their participation in rushing.

In an effort to ease the rush of rush week Virginia Kirkbride, advisor on women's activities, in a memorandum to the faculty, asked cooperation in not scheduling any exams during the rushing period.

• QUOTES FROM LAST YEAR'S HATCHET—"Announcement that this University would not enter a team in Southern Conference Basketball competition came late last night from William Meyers, University Athletic Director.

The decision, made after almost a month of active agitation by the student body, was reached after a week of strenuous effort on the part of the faculty to investigate the responsibilities of a schedule, eligibility of players and availability of a gym.

Two insurmountable difficulties facing the Athletic Department were responsible for the final decision. Inability of other schools in the Conference to schedule the University and a lack of sufficient eligible men to form a suitable squad were listed as the main reasons."

This year, in view of these difficulties, the ball has started rolling early enough to insure that a full schedule can be made up. Director Meyers has been in contact with teams desirous of scheduling games with the University. All that is lacking is the nod from the powers that be.

A solution to the player problem lies in a list of players now in school who would be eligible for the team. This list includes varsity transfers from other schools, members of last year's All-University squad, and former high school players.

In addition, James Rausch, Don McNary, Edsel Gustason, and Bob Jackson, all members of the 1942-43 championship team and now in the service, are back in the country and slated for discharges soon. They have kept in touch with Meyers and presumably will return to the University.

With such players as a nucleus, the University should be able to floor a creditable team. We don't expect a championship team, but we do expect a start to be made. As several years are required to mold a team into a championship aggregation, a start 5 years from now probably would not prove any more successful.

So, why not now?

5. Regatta crew in intercollegiate competition (spring).

Besides former sports participated in by the University, crew has been added to the program. The possibility of intercollegiate competition and a regatta was suggested by President Marvin since excellent practice facilities would be available here.

Committee members are gathering detailed information as to schedules, eligible players, coaches, costs, and backing for the three-year program and are investigating the feasibility of a basketball team this year. Definite action will await the return of Sports Advisor Max Farrington and further conferences with University officials.

On The Silly Side?

• TWO WORDS that backfired from last week's Hatchet are "silly side." Used almost libelously to describe the record of Phi Alpha's 1944 intramural eleven now makes us feel very silly.

Through error, it was stated that forfeits accounted for both wins of that team, whereas only one fell into such a category. A 12-6 victory over Phi Sigma Kappa was also racked up. Further to the credit of Phi Alpha was the 7-6 score to which they held the vaunted Vets.

Vets, Phi Sigs Win Intramural Touchball Games

• AGAIN PACED by a pair of big backs, the Veterans' Club had little trouble disposing of the Colonials, an independent aggregation. With Bill Van Sant and Roy Johnson leading the way, the Vets amassed 26 points while holding the Colonials scoreless.

From the opening kickoff until the closing whistle, the Vets were in complete charge. Johnson, behind the blocking of Van Sant scored two touchdowns on end sweeps, while Reichwein was on the receiving end of two of Van Sant's touchdown aeriels.

The Vets defense was as effective as their offence, intercepting 6 passes while holding the Colonials to 2 first downs.

Phi Sigma Kappa handed SAE their second defeat and virtually eliminated them from the tourney. Stymied on the ground, the Phi Sigs took to the air, scoring two touchdowns. The SAEs took the offensive only once when they advanced the ball to the enemy's thirty on three completed passes from Keebler to Jones. An interception ended this threat.

Scotty Ferris took top scoring honors by snaring two touchdowns heaves thrown by Phil Sheridan. Sheridan also turned in an outstanding performance for the Phi Sigs, throwing passes and carrying the ball on end runs. The only bright notes in the game for the S. A. E.s were the passes of Kent Keebler, and the defensive play of Clark and Thompson.

Farrington Seeks Delay In Decision

versity participation in intercollegiate competition since 1927, President Marvin presented the problems which had confronted the administration and declared that he did not want to see the same mistakes made by a premature return to a full sports program.

Among the reasons given for waiting were that there is at present an inadequate coaching staff but former reliable men are expected to return to their old positions as soon as released from service; that there are no eligible players available now; that no scouting organization necessary to insure a continuing team had been formed; that there was no support in the alumni, faculty, or students for such a return.

Representatives pointed out that there was material, that it was possible to have at least a basketball team this year; that it was possible to finance limited competition; and that students on the whole wanted sports back. In the open forum discussion no decision was reached.

Monday, President Marvin revealed that he had received a letter from Comdr. Max Farrington, sports adviser, which disclosed that he expected his release soon; that he had a plan for University participation to be considered before any decision was made; and that he would be back in the city by November 1 to present his ideas.

The question of University participation in intercollegiate sports was raised last year. Following a conference with President Marvin and Advisor Farrington, such a program was postponed until conditions should become more favorable.
